Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: Midsummer is a powerful time to hear this parable for the earth has warmed and is starting to produce. If you visit a local farmer's market you will start to see a rich and wide variety of produce from now until the fall. And the work of growing plants—whether in pots on an apartment balcony or on large-scale agricultural operations—is rich with imagery that can be meaningful for the life of faith. Plants start as seeds, which are not living things on their own. But they carry potential for far more than seems possible at first glance. Given the right conditions, they grow to many times their size, eventually bearing fruit (whose botanical job, by the way, is to produce and spread more seeds!) We, too, need the right conditions and care to grow and bear good fruit; God offers us all this so that we might bear life abundantly.

To Experience: If you hear the longer version of this gospel, Jesus makes clear what each seed is a metaphor for. Lack of understanding, lack of rootedness, and worldly anxiety can all prevent us from bearing fruit for Christ. If we are not deeply rooted, challenges can easily topple us. It takes constant weeding away of distractions and unimportant things to maintain space in our lives and hearts for God's word.

1. Jesus names three dangers in this gospel: lack of understanding, lack of rootedness, and worldly anxiety can all prevent us from bearing fruit for Christ. Which of these feels like it carries the most risk for you?
2. When your faith is challenging, what keeps you rooted in the word of God? How do you maintain trust in Jesus in times of trial?
3. What anxieties do you have that threaten to smother your faith? How can you set them aside to make space for God's word to take root in your heart?

Year of Mary
October 1, 2022 to December 8, 2023

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

"When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I gave up childish ways" (1 Corinthians 11:13).

Prayer is difficult, but it is necessary. One of the difficulties with prayer is that many of us have not been taught how to pray as adults should pray.

Growth and development are part of life. Over the course of time, the body grows taller and wider (hopefully not too much wider). A student moves from counting to arithmetic to algebra and geometry and even up to calculus. A tradesman starts out as a novice, then an apprentice, next a journeyman, and finally a master craftsman.

Yet, most people have not grown in their life of prayer. As children, we learned to pray by memorizing prayers and reciting them. This first stage of prayer is called vocal prayer. This method is appropriate for children, and a necessary first step in the growth and development of the life of prayer. While it is appropriate for children, this method of prayer falls short for the spiritual life of adults.

As a church, we have not done well at teaching people how to pray beyond vocal prayers. Many people are not even aware that the Catholic Church teaches that all Catholics should be pursuing a life of prayer that is both meditative and relational.

Meditation is simply using the mind and the heart to ponder over the words of prayer, and to discuss them with our Lord God. When you recall that you are in God's presence, and simply rest in his presence, you are participating in a simple form of meditation.

The relational aspect of prayer recognizes that when we pray, we are not simply talking into the great abyss or a big emptiness, but rather we are lifting our hearts and our minds up to the Lord God.

The first step of introducing aspects of meditation to our prayers is to be attentive to our vocal prayers. This could be while praying the Rosary, or reading scripture, or the words that we recite as part of the celebration of the Eucharist. Avoid saying the words in a mechanical or rote manner. Pay attention. Reflect on how these words are speaking to you. When a particular word or phrase catches your heart, pause and rest there for a moment. The Spirit of God is with you and will open up that word or phrase for you. The Lord God will speak to you, if you pay attention.

Yes, this takes time. Prayer cannot be rushed. But recall that the finest wines grow in quality as they are aged with care. The flavor of cheddar improves with time. The good things in life are not found in the express aisle, and that includes prayer.

"Be still and know that I am God" (Psalm 46:10, ESV).
"Heart speaks to heart" St. John Henry Newman.

Blessings,
Fr. Bill

Coping with Grief?

As we push forward through ordinary life, sometimes some of us still struggle with the loss of our love ones. It may be months or even years since your loss. Please know that you are not alone; we are with you. We simply desire to accompany you through all your feelings, special days and experiences yet to come. We invite you to participate with the Coping with Grief group at the St. Thomas the Apostle rectory, behind the church (8100 Brunner Rd, Newton), every first Monday of the month beginning 2pm. The next gathering is August 7th. Whether it's your first year or your thirty-first year, all are welcome. Please pray and discern whether or not this is for you at this time.
